Oops – what's gone wrong?

Injury: A worker was within a stock crate and as he lifted the floor deck, it did not engage and lock into position. The deck floor fell, and the driver instinctively reached out to grab it, sustaining an injury to his shoulder. Workers to be mindful to protect themselves in the first instance – equipment can be repaired, people sometimes cannot.

Injury: A driver was washing down his truck onsite – the driver was on the offside of the vehicle and the hose was draped over the middle of the prime mover. The driver gave a tug on the hose and in doing so felt a twinge in his shoulder. The following days the pain in the shoulder increased and required some medical intervention. Please ensure you report any twinges, accidents, or injuries as soon as possible to allow for a review to be undertaken as soon as possible.

Accident: Driver was proceeding along a highway in the second lane, he sighted a vehicle in the first lane and then it was gone. The driver presumed that the vehicle had departed off the highway onto the off ramp. The driver indicated, looked, and then proceeded into the first lane, at that time a vehicle appeared near the front of the truck and contact was sustained, causing it to spin out of control across the front of the truck, past the second lane and came to a stop in the middle of the median strip. No one was injured thankfully, the car sustained substantial damages. Always look and then look again to be sure before changing lanes, lives can be changed in an instance.

Working Within a Shed:

When working within a shed and performing unloading, a spotter is required. If there is no spotter, discharge is not approved or please call Operations. If there is a problem, please call Operations immediately. Thank you for your understanding and cooperation.

A bad attitude is like a flat tire, you won't get no where til you change it.

Special Thanks
